

PRIVACY POLICY

This policy, which we ask you to read carefully, shows how Int3 Software AB ("we", "our", "us") treat your personal information.

The most important thing about this policy is that we value and protect your rights and privacy.

The policy has been prepared in accordance with applicable legislation and EU Regulation (2016/679) on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data and the free flow of such data, known as the "GDPR".

Below we explain how we use the personal information you share with us in order to provide you with our Services and enable you to use our website or contact us via email or otherwise.

The policy will give you an understanding of what information we collect and what we do and don't do with it so that you can make an informed decision regarding your relationship with us.

Data Controller

Int3 Software AB, 559077-6752, Holtermansgatan 1 A, 411 29 Gothenburg, offers innovative services and technology enabling companies to discover and prevent players from cheating when playing online multiplayer games, hereinafter referred to as "Services". Int3 Software AB is the controller of the processing of the personal data that you share with us when you:

- order and buy our Services online
- have a question and / or contact us

What are personal data and how do we process personal data?

Personal data are all data that can identify living natural persons. Company information such as company name and company registration number are usually not personal data except in cases where you act as a sole trader. However, all contact details such as name, email address, phone number are personal data. When you contact us and/or order our Services, we collect your contact details and company information in order to fulfill our obligations to you as a customer or potential customer. If you have a question or contact us in another matter, for example, via e-mail, we will process your contact information and, if applicable, company information. Categories of personal data are usually contact information, company information and the matter as such as unstructured material, which contains the personal data you have chosen to share with us. A detailed list of the personal data we collect, on which occasions and for which legal basis the treatment is based can be found in the Chart 1 below.

We only use non-privacy intrusive cookies on our website. For information about cookies, see our Cookie Policy on the website.

Why do we process your personal data?

We collect your personal data as a customer/potential customer, stakeholder, visitor or similar in order to provide our Services, fulfill obligations to you by agreement, administer your questions, and provide you with the best experience of our Services. It is necessary for us to identify you, administer you as a customer, for statistical purposes and for direct marketing (which you can unsubscribe from). The personal data collected upon ordering our Services is required to perform our Services, invoice and to administer our contractual relationship. When you contact us in other questions through any of our communication channels, your contact information and, if applicable, company information will be used to handle your question or case, to contact you, for follow ups and to improve our Services.

Who do we share personal data with?

We do not share your personal data with anyone except when systems, programs, support and certain operating functions are provided by a third-party provider such as Amazon Web Services, Fortnox AB and Bokoredo AB. In these cases, we may share personal data with service providers to us both inside and outside the EU/EEA. The service providers have similar obligations regarding the processing of personal data that we have, and we have entered into data transfer agreements or similar with current suppliers. Your data as a customer may also be combined with official records to collect more information about you as a customer.

How long do we save your personal data?

We save personal data about you as a customer as long as there is a customer relationship, or it is necessary to achieve the purposes described in this policy. Upon termination of our Services, we will delete or anonymize your personal data within a reasonable period of time after the termination of the customer relationship, unless other Swedish or European law, court or authority says otherwise. In addition, your personal data may be saved due to legal obligations or the balance of legitimate interests, such as to fulfil legal requirements in the Swedish Accounting Act. Information collected when you contact us is stored as long as we have a commitment to you. Upon termination of commitment, we may store your data based on the balance of legitimate interests as evidence in the event of a recurrence of the matter.

Your rights

You are entitled to request a registry extract of any personal data that is registered about you, free of charge once a year, provided you have legitimate reasons. In some cases, you also have the right to data portability of your personal data. You are entitled to have your personal data corrected if incorrect, completed, erased or restrict the processing of personal data until they are changed. You have the right to be forgotten, but deletion of personal data cannot be done if it is required to fulfill an agreement or if other Swedish or European law, court or government decision states otherwise, and if it is based on a balance of legitimate interests. Should you find that there is no legitimate reason, or the balance of interest is incorrect, you may object to the processing. You also have the right to withdraw a consent, make complaints about the processing to the Data Authority, automatically oppose decision making, profiling and opposing direct marketing.

Data processor

In the event that we act as a data processor of personal data that you control, we acknowledge that we will only process and use personal data, for which you are the Data Controller, in accordance with the GDPR and other relevant applicable privacy laws and your specific instructions.

Contact
